Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Letter of James Garland, to His Constituents The number of subordinate officers at the discretion of the four principals. - This will be the beginning, but what will be the end none can with certainty predict; but judging of the future by the past, I augur nothing preservative of our free institutions, or beneficial to the people. I have no doubt there will be a rapid accumulation of both. In the address of the republican members of the Legislature of Virginia, which accompanied the immortal report of 1798. It is said: If measures can mould Governments, and if an uncontrolled power of construction, is surrendered to those who administer them, their progress may be easily foreseen, and their end easily foretold. A lover of monarchy, who opens the treasures of corruption, by distributing emolument among devoted partisans, may at the same time be approaching his object, and deluding the people with professions of republicanism. He may confound monarchy and republicanism by the art of definition. He may varnish over the dexterity which ambition never fails...
