Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from A Nation in Bondage: And Stupendous Issues To the Mexican the Mexican problem is not one of diplomatic adjudication. He says there are certain things that cannot to be arbitrated, and one of them is the right of one man to keep another man in slavery by means of contracts in which the slave had no hand in the making. To the Mexican - that is to almost all of the Mexicans who are not in conspiracy with American and Europeans - the trouble is that by some hook or crook everything worth owning in Mexico is owned by foreigners. The Mexicans own nothing. They get nothing. They work all the year round, and at the end of that time they are no better off than they were at the beginning. Often they are worse off, for they are in debt at the company store. Millions and millions of wealth go annually from the country as a result of their labors but none of it stays at home. The men who get the wealth have for the most part never set foot in Mexico. Many of them have never invested more than a few thousand dollars and that has gone in bribes or corruption to high officials. For such an insignificant investment the foreigner got control of the country. He owned everything worth owning - the railroads, mines, oil wells, gold and silver mines, plantations, etc. He even owned the government itself up to 1910, which was thrown in for good measure. With the government he obtained control of taxation which he used to exempt the things he owned from taxation. That was the trick...
