The room is very shabby, but the worn furniture and threadbare hangings must once have been handsome. There are a few excellent pictures and many books. Everything is exquisitely neat. At the left upper corner of the stage is a mantel over which there is a mirror; at the left front stands a large high-backed armchair; at the extreme right is a desk furnished with pens, ink, paper, etc. There are doors L., R. and C. Enter, C. D., Faith Hudson, a slim young girl of perhaps twenty. Her face is singularly pure and innocent and wears a certain look of care and responsibility that makes the eyes and mouth pathetic. She is dressed very simply in black. She comes down slowly, sorting a package of mail, and lays all on the desk except a bulky manila envelope which she holds irresolutely. Faith. Oh, dear! I can't bear to let him see it. Poor...
